

Tech Savvy? Love YouTube? Want make you own videos?

Consider joining the Audio and Video Production!

What the A/V Production?

The A/V Production is a class that teaches students how to create videos of many kinds from music videos to documentaries with high quality cameras and Final Cut Pro X.

Mr. Rocha

The teacher of A/V Production, known as Adam Rocha, is also a college film teacher at the Art Institute of San Antonio. Mr. Rocha has been a film teacher for 14 years and does his best to make A/V fun and beneficial to his students.

Contests

There 6 contests each year and winners would earn cash prizes, scholarships and pizza parties! A student of Mr. Rocha, named Desi San Martin, once won $150,000 worth of scholarship for the University of Notre Dame.

Requirements

The requirement to get into the A/V Production is you must take the class PIT (Principles of Information Technology) first.

College Credit

After taking regular A/V Production you can apply for Advance A/V Production, which offers college credit.

Contact

You can contact Mr. Adam Rocha, by his email Adam.Rocha@nisd.net for any further questions. If you'd like to speak with him, his room is L204 located in the L Building.