Pride and glory

After a successful jump, Senior Laura Oseghae reaches into the crowd to receive a hug from teammate Senior Allie Hardin.

and focus ran through Senior Laura Oseghae's mind as she prepared for her final jump in the State Track Competition. Winning gold seemed so easy, yet so far away. By the end of the few seconds it took Laura to jump, she would be known as the reigning state Champion in long jump.

"In track I learned that you can do anything as long as you set your mind to it," Oseghae said. "I gained a sense of hard work, and if there is a will there most definitely is a way."

The track team completed a successful year, sending two students to the State Track competition. Seniors Laura Oseghae and Chris Nicasio both medaled at state, bringing home a gold and bronze medal in their events.

"Track took a lot of self-motivation," Nicasio said. "But it was also a lot more a team sport than people knew."

Throughout the season, students met early in the morning for practices. Practices consisted of the normal warm-ups and running around the track.

"Everyone warmed up," Oseghae said. "Then we were divided and began our workouts, which were developed to our specific events."

Practices also allowed students the chance to work together as a team, and really get to know a lot about each other's strengths.
